Pittman Dental Laboratory

Current Opening: CAD/CAM Technician

Position Summary:
The CAD (computer aided design)/CAM (computer aided milling) technician is an entry level position at Pittman Dental Laboratory. They are responsible for the design of restorations in our CAD software, and also responsible for operating the mills with CAM software. The CAD/CAM technician is an extremely important position at Pittman Dental as more and more of laboratory workflow is becoming digital.

The CAD/CAM department is one of the busiest and highest capacity departments at Pittman Dental Laboratory. They are responsible for every case that comes through the department and providing quick but high quality turnaround on scanning, design, refinement, and milling processes. At Pittman Dental, we focus on advancement opportunities as they are key to employee growth, and we are currently looking for technicians skilled in all areas of work.

Benefits include 401(k), Flexible Schedule (Day and Night shift available), Health, Dental, Vision, Industry Competitive Salary, in house continuing education opportunities and training program, opportunity for advancement, half day Fridays, company events, and CDT training bonus

Qualifications:
- Possess better than average ability to pay attention to details.
- Experience in CAD/CAM software preferred but not required
- Expert knowledge of computers.
- Ability to work well within deadlines
- Possess ability and desire to learn and adapt over time
- Certified Dental Technician certification preferred but not required
- PTC certification in a specialty area a plus.
- GED/High School Diploma or better required.

Why Pittman Dental?
Here at Pittman, we’re growing and expanding in an industry that is experiencing a major shift. The days of smaller labs servicing very specific types of work are slowly coming to a close as technology adapts and creates opportunity to allow a larger laboratory to specialize in all areas of work. Here at Pittman, we’re known for our quality, service, and expertise. We do not outsource our work overseas, and we’re proud of our family owned, 39 year heritage.

We are the laboratory authority in the south east and are looking to expand nationwide. Join our team and become part of the Pittman Dental story of success

Interested?
Please send a resume to Info@PittmanDental.com and we will contact you regarding your application.